Note 1. Nature of Operations and Significant Accounting Policies

First Georgetown Securities, Incorporated (the "Company"), a Delaware corporation, is organized to engage in the buying and selling of securities for businesses and the general public and is a broker-dealer registered with the United States Securities and Exchange Commission. The Company is a member of the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority (FINRA) and the Securities Investor Protection Corporation (SIPC). The Company is an introducing broker that accepts customer orders but elects to clear orders through a clearing broker for cost efficiencies. National Financial Services LLC, a wholly owned subsidiary of Fidelity Investments Company, maintains all customer brokerage accounts.

Cash and Cash Equivalents

The Company considers all demand deposit accounts to be cash equivalents.

Accounts Receivable - Brokers and Dealers

Accounts receivable – brokers and dealers represent receivables due from the clearing broker, National Financial Services LLC. The Company considers allowances for doubtful accounts based on factors surrounding the credit risk of specific customers, historical trends, projection of trends, and other information. Management of the Company periodically reviews the collectability of accounts receivable, and those accounts that are considered not collectable are written off as bad debts. Based on management's review, an allowance for doubtful accounts is not considered necessary.

Securities Transactions

Proprietary securities transactions in regular-way trades are recorded on the trade date, as if they had settled. Profit and loss arising from all securities and commodities transactions entered into for the account and risk of the Company are recorded on a trade date basis. Customers' securities and commodities transactions are reported on a settlement date basis with related commission income and expenses reported on a trade date basis.

Depreciation Methods

Depreciation and amortization are provided on a straight-line basis using estimated useful lives of five to eight years for furniture and fixtures, and the remaining lease term for leasehold improvements.

Independent Auditor's Report On Internal Control

Board of Directors First Georgetown Securities, Inc.

In planning and performing our audit of the financial statements of First Georgetown Securities, Inc. (the Company) for the year ended July 25, 2008, we considered its internal control, including control activities for safeguarding securities, in order to determine our auditing procedures for the purpose of expressing our opinion on the financial statements and not to provide assurance on the internal control.

Also, as required by rule 17a-5(g)(1) of the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC), we have made a study of the practices and procedures followed by First Georgetown Securities, Inc. including tests of such practices and procedures that we considered relevant to the objectives stated in rule 17a-(5)(g)(1) in making the periodic computations of aggregate indebtedness (or aggregate debits) and net capital under rule 17a-3(a)(11) and for determining compliance with the exemptive provisions of rule 15c3-3. Because First Georgetown Securities, Inc. does not carry securities accounts for customers or perform custodial functions relating to customer securities, we did not review the practices and procedures followed by First Georgetown Securities, Inc. in any of the following:

- 1. Making quarterly securities examinations, counts, verifications, and comparisons;
- 2. Recordation of differences required by rule 17a-13;
- 3. Complying with the requirements for prompt payment for securities under Section 8 of Federal Reserve Regulation T of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System.

The management of the Company is responsible for establishing and maintaining an internal control and the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph. In fulfilling this responsibility, estimates and judgments by management are required to assess the expected benefits and related costs of controls, and of the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph, and to assess whether those practices and procedures can be expected to achieve the SEC's above-mentioned objectives. Two of the objectives of internal control and the practices and procedures are to provide management with reasonable, but not absolute, assurance that assets for which the Company has responsibility are safeguarded against loss from unauthorized use or disposition and that transactions are executed in accordance with management's authorization and recorded properly to permit preparation of financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America. Rule 17a-5(g) lists additional objectives of the practices and procedures listed in the preceding paragraph.

Because of inherent limitations in internal control or the practices and procedures referred to above, error or fraud may occur and not be detected. Also, projection of any evaluation of them to future periods is subject to the risk that they may become inadequate because of changes in conditions or that the effectiveness of their design and operation may deteriorate.

Our consideration of internal control would not necessarily disclose all matters in internal control that might be material weaknesses under standards established by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants. A material weakness is a condition in which the design or operation of the specific internal control components does not reduce to a relatively low level the risk that error or fraud in amounts that would be material in relation to the financial statements being audited may occur and not be detected within a timely period by employees in the normal course of performing their assigned functions. However, we noted no matters involving internal control, including control activities for safeguarding securities, that we consider to be material weaknesses as defined above.

We understand that practices and procedures that accomplish the objectives referred to in the second paragraph of this report are considered by the SEC to be adequate for its purposes in accordance with the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and related regulations, and that practices and procedures that do not accomplish such objectives in all material respects indicate a material inadequacy for such purposes. Based on this understanding and on our study, we believe that the practices and procedures of First Georgetown Securities, Inc. were adequate at July 25, 2008, to meet the SEC's objectives.

This report is intended solely for the use of management, the SEC, the New York Stock Exchange, the National Association of Securities Dealers and other regulatory agencies which rely on Rule 17a-5(g) under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 in their regulation of registered brokers and dealers, and is not intended to be and should not be used by anyone other than these specified parties.
